

Directions to Klein-Jasedow

By train:

From Berlin

take a train to Anklam. From Berlin main station the train runs directly to Anklam and takes about 2 hours with the fast trains and about 2:20 with the regional trains. For the last kilometers from Anklam to Klein-Jasedow we organize a pick-up service.

From other directions: Berlin is the city with the most direct train connection if you come from further away. For other connections please look at the website of the German railway company www.db.de.

By plain:

Fly into Berlin. From the airport you want to go on by train, which you can catch either at the main train station (Hauptbahnhof, Hbf.) or at the station Berlin Gesundbrunnen, depending on the connection that works best for you. For details of the connections please look at the website of the railway company www.db.de

By car:

From Berlin

via A 11 and A 20 to exit Pasewalk-Süd, continuing on B 109 in direction to Anklam and from there in the direction of the Island (Insel) of Usedom. At the intersection in Murchin go straight. Turn left in direction of Lassin (don't continue to follow the main street to Usedom). About 2 km before Lassin turn left towards Papendorf (small yellow sign). Go through the village and straight until the maple tree lined cobble stone road leads you down to Klein-Jasedow.

From Hamburg

via A 20 in direction to Lübeck/Rostock to the exit Gützkow, continuing in direction to Anklam/Insel Usedom. At the intersection in Murchin go straight. Turn left in direction of Lassin (don't continue to follow the main street to Usedom). About 2 km before Lassin turn left towards Papendorf (small yellow sign). Go through the village and straight until the maple tree lined cobble stone road leads you down to Klein-Jasedow.

From Usedom

On B111 about 2km after Wolgast turn left towards Lassin and follow the street for about 14km to the village of Waschlow. Turn right towards Klein-Jasedow.

From Greifswald or Züssow:

On B 111 about 2km before Wolgast turn right to Lassin and follow the street to the village of Waschlow. Turn right towards Klein-Jasedow.